a new and expanded edition of a highly successful textbook on world religions with a comparative approach which explores how six major religions are lived and expressed through their customs rituals and everyday practices a new edition of this major textbook exploring the world's great religions through their customs, rituals, and everyday practices by focusing on the lived experience. This comparative study is enriched and broadened with the inclusion of a sixth religion, Daoism. It takes a thematic, comparative, and practical approach. Each chapter explores a series of key themes, including birth, death, ethics, and worship across all six religions. At each time, it broadens students' understanding by offering an impartial discussion of the similarities and differences between each religion. It includes an increased range of student-friendly features designed to allow students to engage with each religion and extend their understanding.

For believers and skeptics alike, a doubter's guide to world religions introduces the five major world religions so that you can explore their similarities and differences in a fair and engaging way. The world is a very religious place; wherever you look, people are worshipping, praying, believing, following, even dying for their faith. But what does it mean to be religious? Are all religions the same? Do they all call on the same god, simply using different names? Are their beliefs and practices simply cultural expressions of the same spiritual longings? Written by historian and theologian John Dickson in his characteristically engaging style, this book presents each of the world's five major systems of faith carefully, outlining the history, doctrines, beliefs, and spiritual practices of Hinduism, the Way of Release, Buddhism, the Way of Enlightenment, Judaism, the Way of the Torah, Christianity, the Way of the Christ, and Islam, the Way of Submission. In his own words, Dickson acts as an art curator in a gallery, presenting each of these works of art in their best light and letting each have their say. Along the way, he demonstrates the importance of religion in general to society and to individual believers and addresses many of the universal questions that all of these serious and ancient religions ask: Who are we? What is our worth? How should we live? Are we alone? At the end of each section is a bibliography of helpful books and websites for those who are interested in learning even more.

Each religion is described by someone who is committed to that religion but who is also fully at home in the academic study of religion. John Hick, author of An Interpretation of Religion, human responses to the transcendent, leading experts in the great living religions present their own faith traditions. The volume surveys the history and teachings of Hinduism, Buddhism, Confucianism, Taoism, Judaism, Christianity, and Islam and describes the issues these religious traditions face today, thought-provoking and soul-stretching. The Gazette Montreal viewpoints are enough to keep the reader alert and engrossed. Christian, century-splendid in every respect. Huston Smith, author of The World's Religions.
